STAD ASSEMBLY FACED BY CHIEF

GOVERNOR SULZER PLACED ON TRIAL

Court of Impeachment Convenes
In Albany at Noon.

SENATE CHAMBER IS JAMMED

Senators and Court of Appeals Judges, Who Sit as the High Court, the Assembly Managers Who Prepared Prosecution's Case and Lawyers For Both Sides, All Are Present—Accused Governor a Notable Absentee.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Before hundreds of spectators that thronged the reconstructed senate chamber, Governor William Sulzer of New York was placed on trial at noon today for alleged high crimes and misdemeanors. The senators and the court of appeals judges, who will sit as the high court of impeachment; the assembly managers who prepared the prosecution's case and the lawyers for both sides, were all present. The accused governor was absent. His plea of not guilty when asked for by Chief Judge Cullen tomorrow will be made in writing by his attorneys. One of his counsel said that probably Governor Sulzer would not appear at the trial at all.

When the court convened and preliminaries had been disposed of, a committee on rules and procedure was appointed. The committee will report tomorrow.

The impeachment managers today announced the engagement of John B. Stanchfield as one of their lawyers. He and ex-senator Edgar T. Brackett will share the examination of witnesses.

The hopes of some of the senators that the court of appeals judges would vote first on every rollcall, including the final one whereby the governor is found guilty or acquitted, was dashed when Chief Justice Cullen said that in the high court of impeachment senators and jurists were equal and must vote as such. Therefore the rollcall will be alphabetical.

When Governor Sulzer is summoned to answer the articles of impeachment returned against him, ex-Judge D. Cady Herrick, Sulzer's chief counsel, will submit a written plea. It will set forth that the impeachment vote was invalid because the assembly was not called in extraordinary session for that purpose; that there can be no impeachment for acts that took place before Mr. Sulzer was governor, and that the governor is innocent of all the charges. There is also reason to believe that some of the senators will be declared unfit because they made false statements of their campaign accounts.

If any members of the court are declared ineligible the effect is automatically to reduce the size of the vote required for conviction, which is two-thirds of the vote present.

NEW RULING SETTLES WORK ON THE RUSTLERS

SHIFTS BURDEN

Hogan Holds Petitioners Must Establish Validity of Names.

Columbus, O., Sept. 18.—In asking Secretary of State Graves to throw out a sufficient number of petitions to prevent a referendum vote on the Green, Warnes and Kilpatrick laws, Attorney General Hogan will contend that the burden of proof that signatures are invalid is shifted from those attacking a petition, when it is shown that the person soliciting signatures were cognizant of fraud, and then it becomes incumbent upon those filing the petition to show a sufficiency of good names. This was held by the supreme court of Oregon.

Alien Land Question Will Not Down.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Ambassador Chinda was at the state department again to discuss with Secretary Bryan the status of the controversy between the governments of the United States and Japan over the California alien land law. The ambassador is impatient at the delay of the United States in replying to his last note on the subject.

AMERICAN WARSHIPS TO TO REMAIN WHILE NEEDED

IN MEXICAN WATERS

Our Warships Will Remain Until All Americans Are Safe.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Now that President Huerta has read his much-heralded message to the Mexican congress, the situation remains absolutely unchanged from the point of view of the United States.

Huerta's insinuations about the presence of American battleships in Mexican waters being unwelcome after Oct. 25, when the six months' permission expires, have been disregarded. There is no question but what the ships will stay wherever in Mexican waters it is desired to have them, and that nothing Huerta can say will affect their movements in the slightest. It is stated the battleships will not be ordered home until all Americans are safe.

Mr. Bryan sent to John Lind, who is still waiting at Vera Cruz, a long message. This communication, it is understood, includes the views of the president and Mr. Bryan on the Huerta message to congress.

Double Life of Priest Who Murdered Girl He Loved Revealed In Hudson River Mystery.

Photos by American Press Association.

The whole country was shocked by the solution of the horrible Hudson river murder mystery. It seemed incredible that the Rev. Hans Schmidt, assistant rector of St. Joseph's Catholic church, New York city, could be the slayer of the butchered victim. But his arrest after a clever piece of detective work and his confession seemed to prove conclusively that the priest had cut unfortunate Anna Aumuller's throat while she slept in the flat he rented for her and then had dismembered her body with a carpenter's saw and butcher's knife. He tied the several pieces of her body up in bundles and dropped them into the Hudson river, according to his confession. He said he had done the crime "for love" and that "God and Abraham" would take care of him. This picture of the priest was taken only a few days before the crime. A picture of the victim found in the flat is also shown, with a view of the church where Schmidt served. The arrest of Dr. Ernest A. Muret, a dentist, on a charge of counterfeiting was made as a sensational development of the strange case, it being alleged by the police that the priest was interested in the plant. Schmidt's double life was fully revealed.

WHITE SLAVERS SENTENCED AND FINED HEAVILY

STAY GRANTED

Diggs and Caminetti Sentenced and Heavily Fined.

San Francisco, Sept. 18.—Maury J. Diggs, former state architect of California, was sentenced by Judge Van Fleet in the United States district court to serve two years in the state penitentiary at San Quentin and to pay a fine of $2,000 for violating the Mann white slave traffic act. F. Drew Caminetti was sentenced to 18 months at San Quentin and to pay a fine of $1,500 for a similar offense. A 10-day stay of execution was granted and for that period Diggs was admitted to bail in $15,000 and Caminetti in $10,000, and meanwhile the defense will perfect an appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals.

Mitchel Seeks a Manager.

New York, Sept. 18.—John Purroy Mitchel tried to induce William Loeb, Jr., to take the place which Job Hedges had refused, namely, manager of his campaign, but with no success. Mr. Mitchel wants a Republican to run his campaign. Mr. Loeb's refusal was not flatfooted. He said that he would wait until Friday before giving a final answer.

ONE KILLED, TEN HURT WHEN BALCONY FALLS

Accident at Cleveland Attends Big Centennial Parade.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 18.—Just as the last section of the big military parade of the Perry centennial celebration was passing, an improvised balcony outside a Chinese restaurant on Superior avenue collapsed and fell on the crowd on the sidewalk below, instantly killing one man and injuring 10 others, three men and two little girls seriously. The dead man is Thomas Nezbeda.

The injured were cut and bruised by the bricks which fell when the supports of the sign gave way.

A parade in which 50,000 members of military, patriotic and fraternal organizations took part finished the program of the celebration. Showers did not hinder the marchers and for more than three hours section after section filed past the reviewing stands.

Perry's "agship" will remain here until Saturday, when yesterday's program, which had to be postponed on account of rain, will be finished.

CLAIM THAW SANE IF REALLY GUILTY OF CONSPIRACY

Concord, N. H., Sept. 18.—Several things have been straightened out since Harry Thaw's arrival here. The hearing before Governor Felker has been definitely set for Tuesday morning. Governor Felker will be represented only by Attorney General Tuttle. Thaw has retained a new lawyer. It is William Chase, for 19 years a justice of the New Hampshire court of appeals. He is to deliver the opening argument before Governor Felker.

Counsel for Thaw does not intend to raise the insanity issue. It will simply be contended that if Thaw is guilty of conspiracy as charged in the requisition papers served on Governor Felker, in escaping from Matteawan he is not insane and therefore had a right to escape from a place where he was being illegally detained, and on the other hand, that if he is insane he is not guilty of conspiracy as charged, and therefore may not rightly be extradited.

Thaw's journey by train from Littleton to Concord was more in the nature of a political campaign than anything else on record. The train made frequent stops and at each station there was a mob waiting to cheer Thaw and shake his hand.

Found Dead In His Room.

Newark, O., Sept. 18.—Frank Graef, a saloonkeeper, was found dead in his room. Heart trouble was given as the cause of death. Graef served a term of 15 months in the penitentiary for complicity in the Ethrington tragedy here in July, 1910.

SOUTHERNERS LINE STREETS WHILE UNION BOYS PARADE

EXCLUDED FROM THE BIG PARADE

Order Barring Women and Civilians Hits Confederates.

WERE INVITED BY AN OHIO POST

Colonel Warnock Had Been Instructed to Prevent Every One Save Union Veterans From Participating in the Annual Parade—Over Twelve Thousand Men March at Chattanooga in the Rain.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 18.—Enforcement of an order excluding women and civilians from the forty-seventh annual parade of the Grand Army of the Republic prevented the N. H. Forest camp of United Confederate Veterans from participating in the parade.

Clad in their gray uniforms, the southerners were preparing to form in the line of march with Forsythe Post No. 15 of Toledo when they were informed of the order. An invitation to join in the parade had been tendered Colonel L. T. Dickinson, commander of the Forest camp, by Colonel Henry N. Hanson, commander of the Forsythe post.

Just when they were ready to take their places Colonel Hanson informed Colonel Dickinson that the commander of the department of Ohio, Colonel W. R. Warnock, had been instructed to bar everyone from the parade except Union veterans. Colonel Hanson expressed deep regret over the incident. The Confederate veterans also appeared distressed, but as they marched quietly back to their headquarters they were greeted with cheers by the Union veterans.

Fully 12,000 Union survivors of the civil war marched through the streets of Chattanooga in the parade. In the face of a steady rain, the veterans trudged between human walls of cheering spectators along the entire route.

Other events in connection with the encampment were a reproduction of the battle of Missionary Ridge and a Grand Army camp fire at the city auditorium.

Mish Nolen, a Union veteran from Orland, Ind., was found dead on the railroad tracks near Citico. It is thought he fell from a trestle and was killed. His body was terribly bruised. He had been missing since Monday.

HUNDREDS THROWN ON EARTH'S BOSOM BEFORE THE CAMERA

GRANDSTAND COLLAPSED

Forty High School Pupils Are Injured, Sixteen Seriously.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Nearly 40 pupils were hurt, 16 seriously, when a grandstand collapsed with 735 boys and girls of the Poughkeepsie high school while a panorama picture of the entire school attendance were being taken. The accident is said to have been caused by a number of the boy pupils swaying on the platform. The boys continued swaying after repeated warnings, and the crash soon followed and the occupants of the stand were hurled into a struggling mass, entangled in the wreckage. The school building was soon turned into an emergency hospital.

FAYETTE COUNTY W. C. T. U. HOLDS ANNUAL CONVENTION

Large and Enthusiastic Gathering of White Ribboners from All Points of the County, and Reports Show County Woman's Christian Temperance Union Is in the Very Best of Condition—New Officers Elected.

Wednesday witnessed a most successful and encouraging convention of the Fayette County W. C. T. U. in the M. E. church of Jeffersonville. Thirty-one voting delegates from the various unions of the county were present beside a large number interested and in sympathy with the W. C. T. U. movement.

At ten o'clock the president, Mrs. Alice M. Taggart, called the convention to order and after the opening exercises came the reports of officers and superintendents of departments.

Miss Icy Allen made the report of the corresponding secretary, Miss Augusta Adams the treasurer's report, Mrs. Clark Post from the "Mothers' Meetings", Miss Stella Watson the department of Sabbath Observance and Sabbath school work and Mrs. S. E. Adams the evangelistic department. All the reports were full of encouragement for the workers.

At noon the women adjourned to the basement, where a basket dinner proved one of the most enjoyable features of the convention. The dinner was a bounteous one and well served, the women of the Jeffersonville union giving most hospitable attention to the visiting women.

The afternoon program drew out a fuller attendance than that of the morning. The annual address of the president, Mrs. Alice H. Taggart, was of the utmost interest and the feature of the afternoon. Mrs. Taggart gave a full history of the temperance work of Fayette county, from the time of the Crusade, her stirring picture of that great epoch in the life of the temperance work, finely drawn. The president closed her address with words of encouragement for the future.

Informal discussions evoked the information that the two first presidents of the county W. C. T. U. were still living, Mrs. Priddy, of Wichita, Kan., and Mrs. J. C. Irvin, of this city.

It was voted to send greetings to each one and also to Miss Augusta Adams who has served with much efficiency as the treasurer of the organization for a number of years.

The reports from the various superintendents were very gratifying, especially that of Mrs. Frank Haines of the Flower Mission. Mrs. Haines reported 1500 bouquets distributed among the sick and several hundred calls made.

Miss Della Templin reported on "Fairs"; Mrs. Laura York, on "Physical Education"; Miss Dora Eggleston on "Literature"; Miss Icy Allen on "The Press"; Mrs. Frank M. Kennedy, "Franchise"; Mrs. C. A. Stafford on "Scientific Temperance Instruction."

The officers elected for the coming year were Mrs. Alice H. Taggart, of Jeffersonville, president; Miss Icy Allen, Jeffersonville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bruce Pine, of Sugar Grove union, recording secretary; Mrs. J. W. Willis, of Washington C. H., treasurer.

The entire convention was felt to be throughout one of the best ever held.

TRACTION FRANCHISE GETS COLD SHOULDER

At an adjourned meeting of the Wilmington council this week the matter of permitting the C. M. & L. Traction company to use the streets of Wilmington for laying tracks and operating cars, was voted down.

The franchise was objectionable to the councilmen because it was not in accordance with franchises elsewhere, no provision being made for maintaining the street between the rails and for a distance of 18 inches on either side of the rails.

Representatives of the traction company refused to accede to the wishes of council, and when the vote was taken a franchise was refused.

The C. M. & L. company is the one which is seeking an extension to Wilmington, and from thence to Xenia or this city.

CHOLERA INCREASE CAUSE OF DELAY

Assistants from the State Veterinarian's office have not yet opened up the campaign against hog cholera in this county as intended, probably on account of the great demand for hog cholera serum that has recently arisen due to an increase in the amount of cholera scattered throughout the state.

Virtually all of the force has been kept busy treating diseased herds in various parts of the state. Last week alone applications were made for the treatment of between 5000 and 6000 head.

No direct word as to just when the work will be taken up and pushed in this county, has been received since the report that the work would commence first of this week.

Meanwhile the disease is spreading in Fayette county, and a repetition of two years ago is threatened unless aid is received from the State Veterinarian's department.

JOHN H. DARLINGTON LAID TO REST

The funeral of Mr. John H. Darlington, held at the residence on the Columbus pike, Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, was very largely attended by representative business men of Washington and farmers of the county, as well as close friends and relatives.

Rev. William Boynton Gage, of the Presbyterian church, conducted a beautiful service and made a comforting address from the verse, "Oh Death, Where is Thy Sting; Oh Grave, Where is Thy Victory." The dominant thought was the removal of all sting from death for those who are the children of the King, and to whom the coming of the death angel means but a broader life.

Mr. J. W. Rothrock, a life-long friend of Mr. Darlington, made a few remarks charged with feeling and followed by the memoir, which he had written in tribute to the "Memory of John H. Darlington."

IN MEMORIAM OF

JOHN N. DARLINGTON

John N. Darlington was born at Winchester, Adams county, Ohio, some 30 years ago, and for the last 30 years has lived in the vicinity of Washington C. H., being one of our most estimable and honored citizens.

Rearred in a Christian home, a life-long student of the Bible, accustomed to the practice of prayer, he has always been a devout believer in the fundamental truths of the Christian faith. His father before him was a man of marked piety; a leader in the cause of religious work, founding churches, and as a Presbyterian elder, ever striving to meet the privileges of his position.

The writer has known him from boyhood, and through long years of business association has come to a full appreciation of his morality and his fidelity to truth and duty.

In habits he was clean, and in principle he always stood for the highest and best. He always loved his home, making it the center of his life, and to its obligations as a father, and husband proved supremely faithful.

When the infirmities of advanced years began to bear upon him, and sickness came, he bore it with a Christ-like patience, and thus with Christian fortitude has gone to his reward.

Five years ago he accepted Christ, and witnessing a good faith before the Session was received into the fellowship of Presbyterian church of W. C. H., Ohio. Since that time he has been rejoicing in the hope of a blessed immortality, being kept safe and sure by the power of his Savior's love.

He leaves a wife with whom he has walked life's pathway for 40 years, rejoicing in its sunshine, sorrowing in its shadows, a woman of unswerving loyalty and love, to whom, in her bereavement our heartfelt sympathy is extended.

Three children also mourn the loss of father, two sons, Edward and George and a daughter, Mrs. Nannie Briggs.

He has lived his life, filling out a score more than the appointed three-score and ten. Truly his heavy head has been his crown of glory. The community will miss him. His relatives will mourn him. In the church his memory will be ever blessed. But,

"Though oft depressed and lonely,
All our fears are laid aside,
If we but remember, only,
Such as he have lived and died."

A quintet composed of Mrs. Lulu H. Robinson, Miss Lulu Henkle, Mrs. Mary Goldsberry Burkett, Messrs. Frank M. Rothrock and Horace Ireland sang the hymns, "The Haven of Rest" and "I Shall Know."

Many beautiful flowers surrounded the casket which was borne by the two sons, Messrs. Edward and George Darlington, the son-in-law, Mr. Wert Briggs, Mr. Albert Darlington, of Dayton, Messrs. Edward Glaze and J. E. Smith.

ENJOYABLE MEETING

The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church held the September meeting at the home of Miss Rose McLean. Assisting her in entertaining were Mesdames Howat, Ballard, Eggleston, Dunlap, Robinson, Bradfute, Bryan and Finley and Misses Sprenger, Perdue and McHenry.

Mrs. Morgan, as president, was welcomed after her summer absence and the other officers made their usual report. Letters were read from Mrs. Kaye, Presbyterian president, regarding the work of the year, "looking forward" in the constantly broadening Missionary field. Special attention was called to the box to be sent soon to Wasatch Academy, Utah.

The first number on the program was a strong paper by Mrs. Hadley, on "Unity of Purpose in Missionary Work", and the special call for it as today. The world stands at the crossroads of history and a few years will stamp the course of centuries. Never again can China rouse herself from the sleep of centuries into a Republic; never again Africa be so easily freed from Mohammedan and European greed; never again can the gospel help organize a new civilization nor we be in a position to fix the future of those who are to come after us.

Mrs. Aus. Hopkins gave "The Signs of Dawn in Africa" in a fine paper. Interesting points of Livingstone's life and work in that savage country and the grand results of work since 1840. One object lesson, at Elat Africa's Mission church has from five to seven thousand in attendance and then enough people for three overflow meetings.

It was very pleasant to have the new pastor, Rev. Gage, drop in for a part of the meeting with Mr. J. W. Rothrock, who introduced him. Mr. Gage expressed great interest in sharing even a small part of the meeting and gave some practical suggestions as to what will help most in advance work of the society and to bring in the young people more fully into the line of missionary education.

An exceedingly enjoyable social hour was spent and dainty refreshments served.

FORMER "BAD MAN" AGAIN IN THE TOILS

Ed McKinley, the Orient farmer who was arrested on suspicion of knowing something about the murder of Fannie Hagelanz, the aged, eccentric woman found murdered in her home at Orient some three years ago, is again in the toils.

McKinley was tried on the charge of murdering the woman and found not guilty. This was more than one year ago, and McKinley has been living at Orient where he is so greatly feared that when United States Marshals Shilling and Roberts went to Orient and tried to hire a rig to go out after their man, the liveriesmen refused to accommodate them. This time the man faces a charge of bootlegging, and was placed under $500 bond. His wife furnished the bond.

The affidavit for McKinley's arrest was filed by his brother, Lewis McKinley.

RAIN IS WELCOME FINE ON THE CROPS

The gloomy, rainy weather of the past few days has been welcome to the farmers, regardless of the gloom and the beneficial showers has caused all vegetation to take a fresh lease on life. Corn is not ripening so rapidly, and the fall pastures are springing up anew, while the soil is becoming in much better condition for the wheat sowing.

The fact that the dust has been kept down has been a welcome relief to all, notwithstanding that mud has taken the place of dust.

While considerable rain has fallen the ground has not been soaked to any depth, and most streams are still dry or nearly so.

This week will witness the bulk of the corn crop being placed in the shock in Fayette county, and the farmers are greatly pleased with the crop, which has not been damaged as much as some feared.

Genius and Heredity

The oft mooted question as to what part genius plays in heredity, whether celebrated men and women are more often scions of distinguished families than offshoots of lowly stock, is still one of the problems interesting scientists.

One of the latest authorities, Charles Kassel, has recently given out a number of interesting statistics, the results of his own investigation of the inheritance of talent. These statistics tend to show whether the characteristics that make for greatness are acquired or inborn.

Mr. Kassel's statistics are based upon Prof. J. McKen Cattell's catalogue of names, sifting from a chaos of biography, the ancestries of one thousand of the world's most famous personages and the tabulated results.

Out of the one thousand individuals 510 were of noteworthy descent and only 298 of obscure descent. As to 192 no data was afforded.

The larger list included those of noble descent and those whose progenitors held positions in society indicative of talent, while the smaller number included the children of ministers, lawyers, physicians and school masters, without special prominence.

If to the list of those of noteworthy ancestry is added the names of men and women who were the children of parents belonging to professions requiring intellectual capacity, the number is increased to 584. If it be just to add names of well-to-do parents, without other mark of capacity, the list enlarges to 610.

According to this data 5 were children of peasants, 49 of various artisans in skilled handicrafts, 5 of sea-faring men, 2 of butchers and 1 of a laborer.

With all allowance that among these mentioned many belonged to specially privileged classes, these figures stand sufficiently remarkable.

The caste system may be a responsible factor in a large number of those descendants of noble or distinguished ancestors. It would not be safe to say that the child of the lowly and uncultured lacks the root of genius in nature, because it is possible that the native genius of the toiling classes was merely denied an avenue of expression in the social and industrial life inherited from feudal ages.

Of the 31 Americans out of the thousand, 17 were of obscure parentage and only 9 of note-worthy descent. These figures would indicate that social conditions of earlier generations were largely responsible for inherited talent.

Mr. Kassel also adds interesting statistics in regard to comparison of vocations of parents with their offspring.

Judging from these statistics it would seem as if the son among the world's distinguished personages rarely pursues his father's vocation. On the contrary the genius of the son appears, as a rule, to choose quite another field. A prediction of the precise line of endeavor in which the son would achieve greatness would be impossible with the talents of the ancestor the only guide. The children of parents whose talents are purely intellectual attain greatness entirely in the domain of the esthetic. From these statistics 86 whose ancestors were clergymen, physicians and lawyers, gave no musicians to the world and only 3 painters.

Of those who were the children of musicians 7 achieved distinction in music and painting.

Poetry For Today

GOLDENROD.

When the wayside tangles blaze
In the low September sun;
When the flowers of summer days
Drop and wither, one by one,
Reaching up through bush and brier
Sumptuous brow and heart of fire, Flaunting high its wind-rocked plume,
Brave with wealth of native bloom—
Goldenrod!

When the meadow lately shorn, Parched and languid, swoons with pain,
When her life blood, night and morn,
Shrinks in every throbbing vein,
Round her fallen, tarnished urn,
Leaping watch fires brighter burn:
Royal arch o'er autumn's gate,
Bending low with lustrous weight—
Goldenrod!

In the pasture's rude embrace,
All o'errun with tangled vines,
Where the thistle claims its place,
And the straggling hedge confines
Bearing still the sweet impress
Of unfettered loveliness,
In the field and by the wall,
Binding, clasping, crowning all—Goldenrod!

Nature lies disheveled, pale,
With her feverish lips apart—
Day by day the pulses fall,
Nearer to her bounding heart;
Yet that slackened grasp doth hold
Store of pure and genuine gold,
Quick thou comest, strong and free,
Type of all the wealth to be—
Goldenrod!

He is a black thoroughbred named "Lockett" and during the last National Western Stock show at Denver he jumped six feet six inches, defeating all but one of the famous United States army horses that were sent to the last Olympic games and won the honors there. "Lockett" will be ridden by Leo Hamilton, who steered him to victory at Denver. Whenever conditions permit, he will endeavor to break his own record.

POLICEMAN KILLS
NOTORIOUS CROOK

Joshua Fox, For Many Years One of Greene County's Most Dangerous Criminals, Meets Death When He Pulls Gun on Officer Who Had the Drop On Him—Was Returning From Chicken S'ling Expedition.

Joshua Fox, 45, ex-convict and notorious criminal, was shot and almost instantly killed by Officer Humston, in Xenia while Fox was in the act of stealing chickens under cover of darkness.

The police received a tip that Fox was at some of his old tricks, and in company with Sam Carter, a colored crook of Xenia, was out after chickens. Officer Humston and a deputy secured shot guns and went to the Fox home to await the return of the two men.

About eleven o'clock the pair were seen returning through a cornfield adjoining Fox's home, and when within about 20 feet of the officers the two policemen sprang to their feet and ordered the men to throw up their hands.

Instead of obeying the command, Fox's right hand dropped to his hip pocket and he pulled a 38 caliber revolver. Without giving him a chance to raise the gun to a level Humston opened fire and the entire load of shot struck the crook in the chest. He dropped to the ground, and when found still clutched the revolver. He had a sack of stolen corn on his shoulder, and his companion is said to have carried a number of chickens.

Fox had previously shot a policeman who was attempting to arrest him, and had served four terms in the Ohio penitentiary. He had little regard for human life and when an inquest was held over his remains the coroner unhesitatingly returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

While the officer regrets very much that he was forced to kill the man, he feels that it was the only way left to save his own life, and that if he had not fired Fox would have killed him with the deadly weapon which he knew well how to use with unerring aim.

CAUGHT GIANT EEL
WEARING A COLLAR

Four Feet Long and Weighed Thirteen Pounds.

Willimantic, Conn.—John Balinski of West Warren captured in the Quabong river, a mile below Willimantic, a giant eel with a dog collar on its neck. The eel was forty-seven inches long, as large around the body as the wrist of an ordinary sized man and weighed thirteen pounds.

Balinski killed the eel in low water, it evidently having been caught in the pool where it was captured when the tide went out.

The collar, of the sort worn by a small dog, was securely locked about its neck and so tight as to cause the skin to bulge out around the edge. The initials "W. R. C." and the name "Prince" were engraved on a silver name plate.

The eel's back was badly scarred, showing where it had been speared on various occasions. Four fish hooks with lines attached were found in the monster's mouth.

"It was almost impossible for me to hold the eel after I grabbed it," said Balinski, "for it would twist and squirm about in my hands with ease. I finally got it between two stones and, drawing my knife, cut its throat. About the only thing it is good for is to chop it up and feed it to the chickens." The collar I will keep as a souvenir.

HER BARGAIN DIVORCE.

Court and Lawyers Chip In Fees and Costs to Woman.

Denver.—Mrs. Julia Williams, who told Judge Rothgerber she married Charles Williams when she was seventeen, was given a bargain in the way of divorces in the county court. Her decree did not cost her a penny. She testified she had been obliged to make her own way in the world since her marriage. Her husband deserted her a month after their marriage in January, 1911, she said, and she now is earning $6 a week.

Judge Rothgerber ordered his clerk to remit Mrs. Williams the docket fees in the case, amounting to $10. Her attorney also proved his generosity by returning his fees. Mrs. Williams, a brunette, thanked the court and her attorney, tucked the decree in her hand bag and, smiling, left the courtroom.

House Adopts Amendment to the Currency Measure.

OFFERED BY CHAIRMAN GLASS

Several Representatives From the South Denounce the Amendment as Useless, but It Goes Through by a Vote of 104 to 38. All of the Opposition Being Democratic — Congressman Fess Takes Lead in Debate.

Washington, Sept. 18.—An amendment coming from Chairman Glass, but predicated upon the suggestion of Representative Fess of Ohio, a Republican, was voted into the currency bill over the protest of a number of Democrats. The vote was 104 to 38, all of the opposition being Democratic.

The amendment reads as follows:
"Provided that nothing in this act shall be construed to repeal the party provisions contained in an act approved March 14, 1900, entitled 'an act to define and fix the standard of value, to maintain the parity of all forms of money issued or coined by the United States to refund the public debt and for other purposes.'"

There had been several interchanges between the Democrats and the Republicans in the course of debate, Mr. Fess taking the lead in urging the reaffirmation of the gold standard. That the stability of the whole fiscal fabric was based upon the certainty that the newly projected government issues had for their basis gold, Mr. Fess thought, was paramount to every other consideration at the present time.

Chairman Glass, while insisting that the bill in its then pending form, by using the term "gold or lawful money," did not forsake the general principle of gold as basic money, called the attention of the Republicans to the fact that the same phraseology—gold or lawful money—appeared in the Aldrich currency bill, to which no exception had been made.

The amendment above referred to cropped up as the last important item of the paragraph by paragraph consideration of the bill. No sooner was it introduced than there was a protest. Representative Witherspoon of Mississippi attacked the members of the banking and currency committee, charging that the amendment above referred to was "a gold-bug resolution," and intimated he would vote visit that is causing the most discussion. The state department has asked for official papers regarding her status in England. Regarding her visit the militant leader said in Paris: "I intend to describe and explain the position and aims of our movement in order that American women may understand what we are doing and why and where we stand.

They cannot learn that from the En-

Hans Schmidt.

New York, Sept. 18.—More light was let into the dark past of Hans Schmidt, the self-confessed counterfeiter, murderer and impostor, by the discovery that after killing Anna Au-muller, the rectory maid, he rented a flat in Eighth avenue and took there two suitcases containing among other things apparel and sewing work belonging to a woman, and a baby's undershirt. This makes the third flat set apart by Schmidt for his operations.
The first was in Bradhurst ave-body of the maid. The second was in Fifty-fourth street, where he was in partnership as a counterfeiter with tist, who practiced without authority,

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Says Mrs. Smith Was Poisoned.

Springfield, O., Sept. 18.—Dr. R. C.
Rind, a local physician, testified that the dying symptoms of Mrs. Florence Caville Smith were such as to indicate that she had been poisoned by a hypodermic injection given by her husband, Dr. Arthur B. Smith, now on second trial on a charge of murdering her. Dr. Rind was present when she died, March 18, 1912. The defense is trying to prove that Mrs.
Smith might have died from a disease of the heart while the state's case rests on the allegation that the injection given Mrs. Smith a few minutes before her death was either potassium cyanide or a subtle vegetable alkaloid.

Donahue For Chief Justice.

Columbus, O., Sept. 18.—That Judge Maurice H. Donahue was the member of the supreme court whom Governor Cox would select for promotion to the chief justiceship, was generally expected by members of the state administration. Their expectation was based on the understanding that Judge Donahue is the choice of his three Democratic colleagues on the bench of six justices.

Old Certificates Are Good.

Columbus, O., Sept. 18.—After a conference between Attorney General Hogan and other state officials, it was announced that children holding school certificates under the old law could continue at work and would not be compelled to give up employment as a result of the new law increasing the working age from 14 to 16 years.

Child Drinks Acid.

Butler, O., Sept. 18.—Harold, 4-year-old son of Earl Eller, died in great agony from the effects of carbolic acid poisoning. The boy got to the cupboard on a chair during the absence of his mother and secured the bottle, which contained two ounces of the acid, which he drank. His face was terribly burned.

Shot by Policeman.

Xenia, O., Sept. 18.—Joshua Fox, 45, was shot and instantly killed by Patrolman Creighton Humston in the yard of his home after he had returned from an alleged chicken-stealing expedition with Samuel Carter, a negro. Fox pulled a gun when the officer told him to throw up his hands.

Football Player Fatally Hurt.

Wellston, O., Sept. 18.—Richard

the football practice of the high school team. In an attempted kick he missed the ball, tearing loose the muscles and ligaments of the legs and wrenching his appendix out of place.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by systematic remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever. Our cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.
We will give one Hundred Dollars for any case cured in three months. Send for our cir-

FORMER WASHINGTON BOY WINS ENVIABLE REPUTATION AND IS NOW A CARTOONIST OF NOTE

Homer Stinson, Cartoonist for The Cincinnati Post. Receives Prominent Mention in Magazine Dealing With Cartoons and Cartoonists—Not an Infant Prodigy, but "Got There" in School of Hard Knocks.

Homer Stinson, cartoonist of the Cincinnati Post, formerly of this city where he is well known and has many close friends, is the subject of a very highly complimentary article in the October issue of the magazine "Cartoons".

An entire page is devoted to the young cartoonist, and a splendid picture of Mr. Stinson accompanies the article. He is one of a great many Washington boys who have gone forth to battle with the world and have made a success of the work engaged in.

Mr. Stinson is a son of Ezra Stinson of Gregg street, this city, and for some time previous to accepting a position with the Cincinnati Post was on the Dayton News.

The article in "Cartoons" is as follows:

"For the benefit of the thousands of boys and girls who aspire to become real cartoonists, let it be said that Homer Stinson did not take a crayon in his hand at the tender age of six and emblazon the nursery wall with a wonderful cartoon of little C. People smiting bossism in the eye. Work, work and then more hard work, coupled with a natural ability to draw, is the reason for the skill that makes Stinson an all-round newspaper artist. And he does everything in the newspaper art line, from comics to powerful cartoons and court room sketches.

An uncle who was an expert penman, one of the kind who thrill the childish heart with ambition of scroll work and flying birds done with the pen, stirred the something in Stinson that in later years turned him into a cartoonist and erased his name from Uncle Sam's payroll, for he sorted letters before he adopted the drawing board. Stinson gives full credit to the uncle for furnishing the inspiration.

"An envelope enclosed a letter to a school-days' chum, a reporter on the Springfield, Ohio, Sun, started Homer Stinson on his career as a newspaper cartoonist.

This envelope was decorated with a cartoon. George Burba, now private secretary to Gov. Cox, was then editor of the Sun. He saw the envelope and offered the boy a job as newspaper artist. And the boy, whose commencement oration had boasted the title, "Cartoons and Their Effect", wasted no valuable time in accepting the job, and taking the first step toward the realization of his ambition. This was in 1906.

Stinson, or "Stin" as he soon became known, "served a term" on chalk plates in the Sun office, then migrated to the Journal-Gazette, of Fort Wayne, Ind. However, the call of the Buckeye state brought him back to Dayton, Ohio, where for four years he drew cartoons and sport features for the News League of Newspapers, owned by "Jimmie" Cox, now governor of the state.

"His stay at Dayton was broken for a few months while he was in charge of the Toledo Blade sport department. He returned to the Dayton News and remained there until 1912. Then he accepted the position of cartoonist on the Cincinnati Post, succeeding Robert M. Brinkerhoff.

Stinson's favorite cartoons are on the subjects "Bossism", "Let the People Rule" and those of a higher vein dealing with "Mother, Father and the Kids". As the Post is a Scripps paper he has full sway along those lines. His clever pictures of the troubles of the married man with the baby are no doubt inspired, as he has been a "proud papa" himself for a little more than seven months.

"Although he hails from Washington, C. H., O., a farm near Atlanta, O., was his birthplace. After graduating from the Washington High school, he made window cards for a department store for a time, and then helped Uncle Sam by holding down a mailing clerk's job in the local post-office.

"Now Stinson's cartoons are known and enjoyed by hundreds of thousands of people, for they are syndicated from coast to coast by the Newspaper Enterprise Association."

SHERIFF KILLED BY AUTO BANDITS NEAR OHIO TOWN

Special to Herald.

Bryan, O., Sept. 18.—Sheriff Wineland was shot twice in the head by auto bandits near West Unity at an early hour this morning. The gun wielder was captured by a posse of farmers.

Bandits held up an automobile party of tourists headed for St. Louis, near Bryan shortly after midnight, and secured $2,000 in cash, together with much valuable jewelry.

XENIA MAY NOT HAVE TEAM IN FIELD

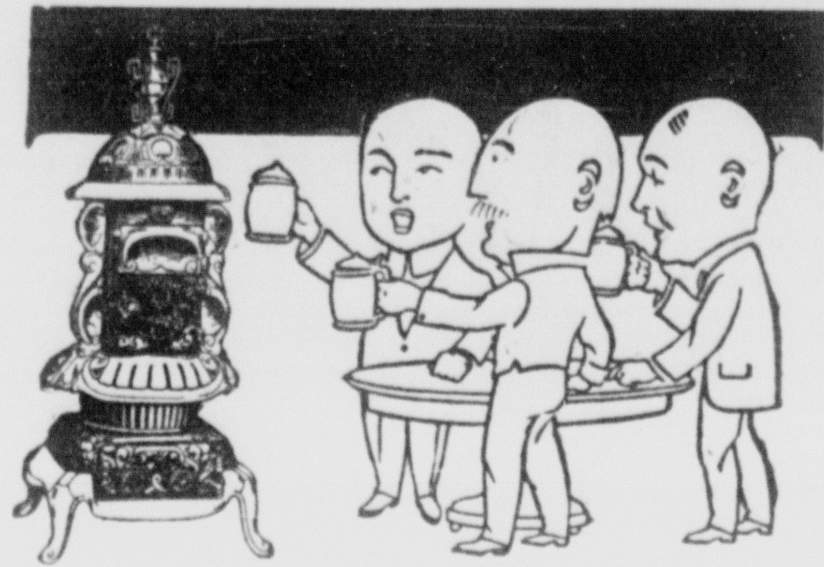

From present indications, the X. H. S. foot ball team may disband after the game scheduled with Washington C. H. for next Saturday. The team has had trouble in getting some of its best men signed up, and the players have practically agreed to "pass up" the game this season. The team's principal reason for becoming discouraged was the faculty ruling that Harold Confer, one of the team's star men, could not play because he is employed as physical director at the Y. M. C. A., it being the opinion that his employment in that capacity put him in the professional class.—Xenia Gazette.

"For it's always fair weather"

THE words of the old Stein Song can well be applied to every home in which an Estate Stove is used.

Come what come may—snow, sleet, howling winds, zero temperature—there's always fair weather inside the house—warmth, and comfort, and cheerfulness.

The Estate Oak

is itself a prince of good fellows—a stove with a gentleman's instincts. Well-dressed, without being flashy; well-behaved; quiet, dignified, but a regular fiend for work (its work is heating the home.)

Come in and make the acquaintance of this famous stove; you'll like it on sight, and when you learn its good qualities, we feel sure that you, too, will want it for a lifelong companion.

UNCLE SAM CHEATING HIMSELF, SAYS THIS
ILLINOIS CONGRESSMAN

REPRESENTATIVE
CLYDE H. TAVENNER.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Representative Clyde H. Tavenner of Illinois claims the government is cheating itself by wasting money on the purchase of army and navy material. He asserts it has been doing this for a great many years. The government is paying $25 for 4.7 inch shrapnel, the character of ammunition used in heavy field guns, and at the same time it has been manufacturing at Frankfort arsenal, Philadelphia, a portion of its supply for $12.52, all overhead charges included, he says. Field artillery ammunition is not an exception. The records of the war department show that the government has been paying private manufacturers from 25 to 33 per cent more for small arm cartridges and from 33 to 50 per cent more for field artillery ammunition and equipment than it can manufacture them for in its own arsenals.

Sale of tickets for the Washington Lecture Course will be limited to the seating capacity of Grace church. Get your tickets early.
